

NORTH FARGO GUARDS MAIN

Constables with Shotguns Prevent City of Fargo From Acting

Fargo, N. D., July 2—Constables of North Fargo, armed with shot-guns, prevented workmen from excavating the North Broadway water main at a point near 15th street, Fargo, late this afternoon.

Four workmen placed on the job for the purpose of breaching the connection between the Broadway main and the newly laid North Fargo village main and who began work early this afternoon had been on the job less than 15 minutes when the four village constables appeared on the scene.

C. A. McFarworth, in charge of the crew of diggers was forced by the constables to call the men off the work and all of them were placed under arrest by the village constables. The trouble is the outgrowth of difficulty between the village of North Fargo and the city of Fargo over water supplies. Several days ago it was reported that the village of North Fargo had tapped the mains of the city of Fargo and used the water for several days before it was discovered.

Games Have Great Educational Value For Children

"Games have a positive educational influence that no one can appreciate," declared Mrs. J. B. Kling in speaking of the value of play to children.

"Children can be completely transformed in this way by the playing of games," said Mrs. Kling. The value of play for girls from ten to sixteen, particularly from the ages of twelve to sixteen, can not be over emphasized," she declared, "for it is in those ages that girls are likely to incline to mope instead of taking part in healthy exercises."

"Mothers and fathers should take an active interest in seeing that their girls come out to the playground and join in the sport," asserted Mrs. Kling.

In discussing the subject she made the following statements:

"The player comes to see more quickly that he is coming to ward him—that he is in danger of being tagged, and in his turn, he hears the foot-step behind him, or his name or number called, he feels a touch on his shoulder, or in his numerous other ways is aroused quick and direct recognition of and response to things that go on around him."

"The clumsy, awkward child becomes agile and expert; the child who tumbles down today will not tumble down next week. He runs more fleetly, dodges with more agility, plays more expertly in every game, shows thereby a neuro-muscular development."

"The social development through games is full as important and pronounced."

"Many children, whether because of lonely conditions at home or through some personal peculiarity, do not possess the power of readily and pleasantly cooperating with others; those can find hope only in the intelligent application of some of the principles of play already enumerated. Many of their elders lack the same faculty. And as a consequence they are placed at a great disadvantage in business, in society in fact in all relations of life."

"The bold, selfish child learns that he must monopolize opportunities, the unappreciated child learns self-respect and the respect of others through some particular skill that makes him a desired partner or a respected opponent. He learns to take defeat without discouragement and to win without undue elation."

"Most important of all, however, in the training that comes through games, is the development of will. The volitional aspect of the will and its power of endurance are plainly seen to grow in power of initiative, in courage to give 'dare' and to take risks, in determination to capture an opponent, to make a goal or to win the game. But probably the most valuable training of all is that of inhibition—that power for restraint and self-control which is the highest aspect of the will and the latest to develop."

"To be able in the emotional excitement of a tense game or a close contest to observe rules and regulations; to choose under such circumstances between fair or unfair means and to act on the choice; is to have more than a mere knowledge of right and wrong. It is to have the trained power and habit of acting on such knowledge, a power and habit that means immeasurably for character."

"It is for the need of such trained and balanced power that contests in the business world reach the point of winning at any cost, by fair means or foul. It is for the need of such trained and balanced power of will that our highways of finance are strewn with the wrecks of able men."

"If the love of fair play, a sense of true moral values, and above all, the power and habit of acting on these can be developed in our boys and girls, it will mean immeasurably for the uplift of the community."

Monument to Roosevelt in Cuba

Rough Riders to Erect Bust of Colonel Near Scene of Famous Battle Fought Twenty-Five Years ago

James E. Fraser, sculptor, working on the bust of Roosevelt for the Santiago monument.

A monument is to be erected to Theodore Roosevelt in the city of Santiago de Cuba to commemorate his part in Cuba's fight for freedom, according to an announcement just made at the national headquarters of the Roosevelt Memorial Association. The project is in charge of a committee of the Rough Riders Association and the Rotary Club of Santiago. General Leonard Wood, formerly Colonel of the famous regiment, is honorary chairman, Colonel John C. Greenway, of Bisbee, Arizona, is chairman and George G. McMurtry is treasurer. The following have been invited to serve on the committee: Joseph L. Alexander, Charles L. Ballard, Henry W. Bull, Roscoe H. Channing, Jr., Arthur F. Conby, Frank Frantz, David M. Goodrich, Ira A. Hill, Charles E. Knoblach, Frank Knox, Lewis Maverick, Joseph H. McClintock, John McMillen, Fred Muller, Gus Murehich, Nelson Reed, Joseph O. Wells, George B. Wilcox, Robert D. Wrenn.

The monument will take the form of an over lifesize bust of Colonel Roosevelt as a Rough Rider, set on a granite pedestal. The bust is now being modeled by James Earle Fraser, the famous sculptor, whose statue of Alexander Hamilton on the steps of the Treasury Department in Washington was recently unveiled by President Harding. A site for the monument has already been selected by a committee of distinguished citizens of Santiago at a prominent point on the boulevard leading from the city to San Juan Hill.

"The monument in Santiago," said Colonel Greenway, who made the announcement, "will commemorate the day which Colonel Roosevelt himself regarded as the greatest day of his life. 'I would rather have led the charge up San Juan Hill,' he said shortly after the battle, 'than to have served three terms in the United States Senate.'"

Funds for the monument are now being raised and the Committee is inviting contributions. Checks should be made payable to George J. McMurtry, Treasurer, Rough Riders Fund, and sent to the Roosevelt Memorial Association, One Madison Avenue, New York.

It is planned to unveil the monument with appropriate ceremonies early next January.

40 INJURED IN TRAIN CRASH

Buffalo, N. Both cars went into the ditch, the first turning over.

LIVE STOCK TRADE WEAK AND DRAGGY

South St. Paul, Minn., Minn., Close of market Saturday.—Dallies prevailed in all branches of the live stock trade this week. Outside of a few strictly choice fat cattle, all classes sold at unevenly weak to 50c or more lower prices. A somewhat lighter supply and dull markets for the dressed product were the chief factors causing the decline in cattle prices.

Strictly choice to prime fat beefs are still quotable at $10.50, but best in this week's trade went at $10.25, yearling steers and heifers averaging 800 pounds and fat beefs averaging 1,219 pounds making this price. Bulk of grain fed fat steers and yearlings sold from $8.50 up grass-fat offerings going at $8 up to around $9.

Best dried heifers sold at the close at from $8 to $9 or better, a like kind of cows, $6.50 to $7.50. Grass-fat heifers sold from $5 to $7, grass-fat cows, $3.25 to $5.50 for the most part.

A few old shelly canners sold at $1.50 or less, most canners, $1.75 to $2.25, cutters on up to $3. Bologna bulls sold at $3.25 to 4.25.

Veal calves sold on an up-and-down market, with closing prices about like a week ago. Best lights sold today from $3.50 to $9.50, seconds, $4 to $6. Average cost of the latter somewhat under $5.

Strictly choice feeder steers are quotable up to $7.50, but best of the week went at $6.75. Receipts were largely common and medium grade offerings selling at $4.50 to $6.50. Commonest light weight stock steers and stock heifers were almost unsalable at the close, showing declines of fully 50 cent or more for the week.

Hog receipts totaled about 64,000 this week compared with 59,000 a week ago and 68,000 a year ago. The market has been on the down grade most of this week reaching a new low level for the year to date. Bulk of good to choice hogs of all weights closed mostly at $9.50; packing cows mostly at $5 to $6.50.

Good and choice lambs closed at $14.50 to $14.75, seconds mostly $8. Bulk fat ewes, $3.25 to $3.

MAY POSTPONE BOND SALE AND BORROW MONEY

The State Industrial Commission, which is to hold a meeting this afternoon to consider the matter of state bond sales, may postpone the sale for a considerable period, and borrow money to meet the needs of the commission in the meantime, it was learned today. The condition of the bond market has in bids for state bonds of the farm loan series at a premium on 5 per cent bonds, but at a premium held by state officials to be less than the bonds should command. Arrangements have been made to borrow money through the Bank of North Dakota for the financing of the immediate operations of the farm loan department and the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks, it is known. No bids were submitted last week for the milling and elevator bonds offered for sale.

HUNT BANDIT WHO SHOT SHERIFF

CITY TO PUT IN ITS OWN POWER PLANT

Will Furnish Everything in Connection With New Water Works

CITIZENS APPROVE

Question of Bringing Main in
on Avenue C Is Before Commission

The city commission just before midnight Saturday after a long meeting at which members of the citizens' committee were present and participated in the deliberations,
adopted a motion to purchase oil
engines for furnishing power in the new city water plant.

The action was taken to make the water plant all-city-owned, to avoid any conflict with the railroad commission with regard to power rates,
and to give the city absolute control over the production and distribution of water.

Many responsible citizens had voiced their sentiment in favor of such an action. While they urged the action as a method of saving money in the operation of the plant, they urged as a stronger reason that the plant ought to be the city's own in every way, and any possibility of fights before the railroad commission such as have been
had in the past, or in the courts,
be avoided. The members were unanimous on the proposition.

The commission will meet tonight
and probably determine the type of engines to be bought.

Main Question Up

The commission also may settle
the question of bringing the big 16-inch main to be installed, in on Broadway or on Avenue C. City Engineer Atkinson provided an entrance on Broadway; some others
want it on Avenue C to avoid tearing up pavement on Broadway. L.
P. Wolff of St. Paul, consulting engineer, is here to discuss various matters with the commission.

There also was considered Saturday night the question of whether to depend upon direct pressure system for fire protection or whether
to use a booster pump or a pump
on a fire-fighting truck to furnish extra pressure in case of fire.

The first proposition taken up
was bringing the main in on Avenue
C. A letter from the General Inspection Bureau doubting if this would be satisfactory was read by the city engineer. Mr. Wolff said that he had tried to find some plan
of avoiding a 16-inch main on Broadway but had always come back to Mr. Atkinson's specifications. He said the main was needed there to provide fire protection in the business district.

Best Favors Avenue C

R. L. Best, called by Commissioner Thompson, said that in 1915
he took up the matter of fire protection with W. I. Fisher of Minneapolis who, he said, makes the rates
for old line fire insurance companies. A raise in rates was threatened because there was only a 12-inch main from the water plant. He said that Mr. Fisher agreed that if a 16 or 19 inch main were brought in on Avenue C and down to Rosser, completing a circuit and eliminating dead ends in mains, this would be satisfactory. Mr. Best urged this.

Henry Reade, state fire marshal, also favored bringing the main
in on Avenue C to connect dead ends at Rosser street. He said that the city ought to have a pumping engine on its fire truck to provide pressure in case of fire.

Fire Commissioner Hensler also favored use of a pump and Commissioner Thompson declared that Bismarck ought to have a pumper that it ought not start fighting
fires with direct pressure when other cities were discontinuing it.

Mr. Atkinson said he figured it would be only $13,000 cheaper to bring a main in on Avenue C than on Broadway.

Pump Problem

The question of giving up a 2,000
gallon pump at the new water plant
designed to furnish extra pressure
in case of fire came up. Mr. Wolff said that if the 2,000 gallon pump
were given up it meant the direct pressure idea would be given up.
He said that more streams to fight
fire would be obtained by this method than with a pump. Mr.
Wolff in answer to a question said
that the pump ought to be started instantaneously. Mr. Thompson said that now in case of fire the local electric company has to be notified
before power can be increased sufficient to run it.

Mr. Hensler reiterated he was in favor of a pump. A 750-gallon per minute pump would give three streams of water in fighting fire,
he said. Mr. Hensler brought out that if the direct pressure system
were used there would have to be a man at the water plant 24 hours a day to watch for this. Mr. Lucas said there would have to be a watchman anyway.

Fire Marshal Reade said sooner or later the city would come to the pump. He said Minot had one pump, Fargo two and Grand Forks
three.

BERENGARIA'S LIQUOR NAILED UP

When the S. S. Berengaria, sailing under the British flag, arrived in New York it carried under seal a supply of liquor for the return trip.
The room containing the store was nailed up to prevent tampering, but U. S. customs officials claimed the right to unseal the liquor and seize it as they did on the Baltic.

MANY NEW REGULATORY LAWS EFFECTIVE IN STATE JULY 1; DANCES, LIQUOR ARE INCLUDED

Child Welfare Code Also Marks Change in the Administration of Law in the State—Many New Duties
Given Board of Administration.

Many new laws of regulatory nature are in effect in North Dakota
today. They were passed by the 1923 legislature and became effective with the first hour of Sunday.
Public dancing is added to the list of amusements prohibited in North Dakota on Sunday, dances held outside of corporate limits of cities and villages must be policed
at the expense of the dance hall
proprietor and every dance hall proprietor is required to prevent persons under 18 years of age, unaccompanied by parent or guardian,
from attending a public dance.

Prohibition laws in the state are strengthened, as the result of the passage by Congress of the Volstead act into state law. One change was made which was considered in some quarters as a slight weakening of the prohibition laws
permitting physicians to dispense for medical purposes five gallons of liquor in one year. This act, however, carried an emergency clause.
Another act dealing with intoxicating liquor made it a serious offense
to drive an automobile while intoxicated, punishable by fine of $20.00
to $200.00, imprisonment up to one year, or both, or a magistrate may suspend the driver from operation
of an automobile for two years.

New Children's Code

A new code of laws affecting children became effective July 1, and the administration of them was put in the hands of the state board of administration, which named Miss Henrietta Lund as the executive officer. One of these laws, that dealing with illegitimacy, is declared by social workers of national repute to be a marked advance in legislation
on this subject. Provision is made whereby the father of a child must support it until it reaches the age of sixteen years. The hospital bills
of the mother during period of birth of the child must be borne by the father, and in case of the child's death he is made responsible for the funeral expenses. The failure of a father to carry out orders of a court is punishable by a fine and imprisonment.

The board of administration is given power to license and supervise all hospitals and lying-in places
which receive women for maternity care, and to revoke licenses for non-compliance with regulatory laws. The board also is made responsible for securing enforcement
of child labor laws and laws affecting welfare of children.

Strict laws governing the placing of children in homes for adoption are provided, and all places putting children into homes are brought under the control of the board. Provision is made that action shall be taken to determine the care a child receives after it is placed in a home. Laws governing non-support by husbands are strengthened, and the board of administration is given
authority to pay the expenses
necessary in medical treatment of children.

WEIGHTS LAW OF SOLONS IS HELD INVALID

Changed Provisions of Initiated Law, Attorney-General's Opinion

EFFECTIVE TODAY

Would Have Transferred Job
of Inspecting Weights, Measures to Sheriffs

The law of the 1923 legislature
placing the duty of inspecting
weights and measures in the hands
of the sheriffs of the various counties, effective July 1, is declared
invalid by Attorney-General George F. Shafer, in an opinion announced today.

The bill passed the legislature
by less than a two-thirds vote, and since a previous initiated act had placed the duty of inspecting
weights and measures in the hands
of the state supervisor of grains
and grain grades, the law is not effective, the Attorney-General holds. An initiated law can be repealed only by a two-thirds vote,
under the constitution, the Attorney-General points out.

Senate Bill No. 387, by Senators Stevens, Kador and Murphy, was passed by the legislature last September after marked opposition, especially in the house. It was urged by proponents as an economy
measure, it being held that the work of inspecting weights and measures had been done by the sheriffs of the various counties previously at less expense and with greater efficiency.

The new law provided fees which might be charged by sheriffs, and provided that the Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor should keep standard measures for testing purposes. The law carried an emergency clause, which requires
a two-thirds vote, but an examination of the senate and house journals it is stated, showed that it passed only by a majority vote.

The state supervisor of grains
and grain grades is John N. Hager,
his office is functioning in limited
manner because of the attack on the constitutionality of that act.
Elevator companies attacking the act and attorneys for the state
agreed upon a modification of the act, and the legislature passed a determination by the United States Supreme Court in the fall, to permit him to supervise bonding of elevator companies for storage.
Funds in the department having become exhausted, the emergency commission in a few days ago voted to transfer any unexpended funding in the grain grading fund
under the old law to the department.

A party of Williston men, here in the interest of the Williams County State Bank, which they hope may be reopened, received word while here
that stockholders in Williston had pledged $75,000 in the refinancing plan for the bank. The party, including Sheriff Carl Erickson of Williams county, Robert Rutledge,
deputy; Earl Swinley, county treasurer, interviewed Attorney-General G. F. Shafer, State Examiner, Gilbert Semington and C. R. Green, manager of the Bank of North Dakota, with a view of seeking assistance in preventing appointment of a permanent receiver. They said that Judge Moellring of district court
had named a receiver on Friday.
Previously the bank had been in the hands of a deputy examiner. State officials are favorable toward reopening of the bank if a satisfactory
plan can be worked out, it was said.

pation to Include Territory

EXPLANATION LACKING

Coblenz, Germany, July 2.—
Two time bombs were found at the entrance of the Mayence tunnel today. One exploded with slight damage. The fuse
was withdrawn from the others
in time by a French artillery
officer. The French authorities have ordered strict traffic restrictions and penalties in other forms imposed on Mayence. The city officials will be held responsible for the occurrence.

Berlin, July 2.—The Krupp works
at Essen were partially occupied by the French yesterday, according to an Essen dispatch to the Zeitung am Mittag and work ceased in the departments affected.

So far as is known in German quarters the sections occupied comprise so far only the boundaries, the boiler works, the electric plant, the locomotive and car construction department. It is not known whether the occupation is temporary for the purpose of making requisitions or if it is to be continued indefinitely.

Krupp plant in Essen was occupied

according to messages received in

AVIATOR WHO WILL CARRY FIGHT PICTURES TO EAST STOPS IN CITY

Capt. Dallas Speer Makes Trip From Chicago to Bismarck in 7 Hours and 10 Minutes Actual Flying Time—to Land in Bismarck on His Return

One of the most spectacular features of the world's champion pugilistic contest at Shelby, Montana,
July 4, begins after the fight is over.
It is flying the fight pictures.

Aviators will race from Shelby to the Pacific Coast and to the east with pictures for the big syndicates that supply newspapers with photos showing how either Jack Dempsey or Tom Gibbons lost the battle.

Bismarck is on the Shelby air route. The first of two or three aviators expected to come through Bismarck arrived last evening on his way to Shelby. He is Capt. Dallas Speer, former army pilot, flying for the Chicago Tribune.

It took Capt. Speer just 7 hours and 10 minutes to fly from Chicago to Bismarck. He left Chicago about 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning and circled over Bismarck and landed about 8 o'clock Sunday night. He made stops in Milwaukee, Minneapolis and Fargo.

His actual flying time was better than 100 miles an hour. He made 390
miles from Chicago to Minneapolis (airplane mileage, as the crow flies),
in 2 hours and 55 minutes; 230 miles
from Minneapolis to Fargo in 2 hours
and 30 minutes, and 200 miles from Fargo to Bismarck in 1 hour and 45
minutes, the mileage being recorded by his machine.

Capt. Speer found an excellent landing field at Fort Lincoln, was met by representatives of oil and gasoline companies, and A. F. Bradley of the Association of Commerce.

NEW SECRETARY IS APPOINTED

Charles Haugh, Jr., actuary for the Workmen's Compensation Bureau, today assumed the position of secretary to succeed C. A. Marr, resigned to practice law in Bismarck. Mr. Haugh came to the bureau a year ago from the New York
state workmen's compensation bureau. The North Dakota bureau
formerly employed H. D. Bangert of Columbus, Ohio, actuary for the Ohio commission, as consulting actuary for North Dakota. His services have since been dispensed with.

ROUNDUP AT MANDAN OPENS

Continues Three Days, Closing on the Fourth of July

With 35 entries in the bucking
broncho contest alone and approximately 175 cow-punchers from North and South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and New Mexico entered the Mandan roundup got off today to its opening program. Officials said the indications were attendance would exceed expectations.

Suit probably will be launched by the committee against the outfit from which a buffalo was purchased three weeks ago. Telephonic communication Saturday advised the committee that the Buffalo had broken out of its corral in a storm and could not be shipped. However, another buffalo was purchased by phone in Miles
City and will arrive tonight for riding tomorrow and the Indian hunt
Wednesday.

Although the committee offered the Northern Pacific a $50 bonus to ship
the buffalo by express the Miles City
officials of the Northern Pacific declined with thanks and told of a terrific freight car. The buffalo is expected in Mandan tonight.

Cowboys at a mass meeting selected as judges Albert Schipp of Ft. Yates, and George Perkins of Medora, and the Mandan association named a third, Oscar Olson, of this city.

STATE BOARD WILL INSPECT

The state board of administration
probably will visit Bottineau about July 15 to meet citizens of that city
on the subject of the normal school
at that place, appropriation for which for the next biennium was voted.

A six weeks summer school is now in progress there and it is said
by board members that a second six weeks term may be held if there are enough students.

Bottineau citizens have sought means to continue the school by private financing, since no state
funds will be available for the regular school year beginning in September. Board members have indicated they would not object to citizens of Bottineau using the property
for a normal school, if it is held
not illegal.

ESCAPES FROM TRAIN; TRAILED TO MOORHEAD

Sheriff I. C. Fulkner of South
Dakota Killed on Great Northern Train

TAKING PRISONER HOME

Bandit But 20 Years Old, Said
To Have Long Criminal Record

Breckenridge, Minn., July 2.—Two posses today were searching for Edwin Rust, 20, who shot and killed
Sheriff I. C. Fulkner of Brown county, South Dakota, on a Great Northern train near Wolverton, Minnesota, late last night.

After shooting the Aberdeen
sheriff with one of his own guns
the slayer leaped through a window
of the train and escaped.

One posse of 20 men was working south from Fargo and the other,
headed by Sheriff James Fitzgerald
of Wilkin county, Minnesota, was going north cutting escape off from that section. A reward of $500 was offered last night by the Brown
county commissioners for the slayer, dead or alive.

Rust, wanted in Aberdeen for burglary and robbery, was paroled
from the Folsom prison near Sacramento, Calif., and is said to have had a long record in that state in spite of his youth.

Shortly after his escape from the train, gun in hand he held up a motorist, getting a hat and $1.10 in change. He did not steal the automobile.

The body of the sheriff was brought to the Wilkin county morgue here.

Fargo, July 2.—Posses of three states today were searching for Edwin Rust alias B. James of Grand Forks, who shot and killed Sheriff
I. C. Fulkner of Brown county, South
Dakota on a Great Northern passenger train east of Moorhead last night and made his escape. The posses are from Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

After escaping from the train
Rust is said to have held up Fred Olson, a Moorhead dairy man, and relieved him of a small amount of cash and a hat. Olson reported the officers that Rust had forced him
to carry him to Moorhead at the point of a gun.

When Moorhead was reached Rust
left the car and from there the train was lost. Reports here said that Rust after the shooting forced a passenger to reach in the sheriff's pockets for the keys with which to unlock handcuffs which bound his hands. The escape was said to have been made at Hinkle siding, four miles out of Moorhead. Rust was arrested late last week on advice
from the South Dakota sheriff while the former was visiting at the home
mother in east Grand Forks. Rust's mother is said to reside in St. Paul, Minn.

STRUCK SHERIFF WITH CUFFS

Grand Forks, N. D., July 2.—Fran-corman of East Grand Forks, brain-
man on the train carrying Edwin Rust and Sheriff Fulkner, said today
that when the train left Moorhead
Rust and the sheriff were sitting facing each other in made-up berths
on opposite sides of the aisle. It was from this position that Rust
struck the sheriff over the head
with his handcuffs.

He then directed one of the passengers to go through the sheriff's pockets and obtain the keys to release him from both hand and foot
manacles with which he was secured. Then holding the revolver on the brakeman and passengers Rust walked to the rear of the car and leaped of the train, Gorman says.

nesses.

Governor George F. Comings today
announced his candidacy for Governor of Wisconsin at the primary election of 1924.

The lieutenant-governor has for years been a leader among the La Follette progressive Republicans and Rust and Sheriff Fulkner, said today
that when the train left Moorhead

two. Mr. Wolff mentioned Eau Claire, Wis., a city of 22,000, and Nelson City, Ia., as two cities having direct pressure systems.
After some discussion the committee voted not to cut out the 2,000 gallon pump. The question of whether direct pressure will be used was not decided, however.
The committee also discussed the matter of Diesel engines with Mr. Wolff. He said that the matter of economy was dependent upon the price paid electric power, but did not go into detail on comparison with present power prices.
Henry Reide remarked that if the city owns the water plant it ought to own everything, including furnishing of power.
Mr. Henzler moved that oil engines be put in, the kind to be decided later. Mayor Lenhart, Commissioners Thompson, French and Larson voted "aye."

Many New Regulatory Laws Effective In State July 1

crippled children upon request of the parents or guardian.
A new law also is effective with regard to mothers' pensions, giving greater discretionary power to the boards of county commissioners. All mothers' pensions were cancelled by the law as of July 1, and the approval of the board of county commissioners to pension allowances of the county judge is provided for. The act provides that any mother having one or more children under 16 who are dependent upon her for support, shall receive an allowance of $15 a month for each child, or such portion of it as becomes necessary for the support of the child.
Senate bill No. 153 reenacts the eight-hour-day maximum for women workers but provides exceptions, in the case of human life being at stake, sessions of the state legislature, where a woman is employed as a district court reporter, in hotels and restaurants, but requires a permit to be obtained from the authorities charged with enforcing the law.
The vagrancy laws were extended to include habitual gamblers under the heading of those who may be prosecuted.
Senate bill No. 315 provides that carnivals may be held only when permission is given by authorities of cities and towns and then only on condition that there shall be no gambling devices of any sort in connection with the carnivals, and no indecent shows.
A law affecting the sale of revolvers and other firearms, which was approved by the police chiefs of the state, became effective July 1. It provides that if any person shall attempt to, or shall, commit a crime while carrying a revolver or pistol without permit, he shall, in addition to the punishment provided for the crime, be imprisoned for not less than ten years. Aliens and criminals are prohibited from possessing pistols. Licenses to carry revolvers—it being made unlawful to carry them without license—may be obtained from a justice of a court of record, chief of police of a town or a sheriff of a county, when it appears there is good reason for granting such a permit.
A marked change in legal procedure in the state is made in a new law which provides that after deliberating for 12 hours, five-sixths of a jury may return a verdict in a civil case.
Board Given Power
Included among the regulatory laws is the rewriting of the various acts for inspection of food, drugs and beverages, bringing the administration of the laws under the head of one man, a food commissioner, who shall be appointed by the state board of administration.
Auto transportation companies operating between cities are brought under the supervision of the board of railroad commissioners which may grant certificates to operate between cities, and may restrict the number of lines and prescribe the rates to be charged.
The state blue sky laws also are rewritten to make possible closer supervision of stock selling agencies, the board being named the state securities commission. Regulation of aircraft also is provided in a new law, which makes an aviator responsible for damage to property when rising or alighting on the ground.
The most important election laws did not become effective July 1 because they are held up by petitions for a vote on them in November, 1924. They included the non-party state election law and the separate primaries for choosing candidates for state and national offices. However, a law became effective making the hours when polls shall close, 7 p. m. instead of 9 p. m.

Roosevelt and Hamilton Linked in Impressive Medal Presentation at White House

President Harding Calls Roosevelt "Sentinel on the Ramparts of the Republic"

Three notable Americans received national recognition for their public services when President Harding, with impressive ceremony, recently presented the Gold Medals of Honor awarded by the Roosevelt Memorial Association to Miss Louise Lee Schuyler, Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn and General Leonard Wood. The bestowal took place in the East Room of the White House before a distinguished audience which included Mrs. Harding, M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador; Secretary Hughes, Secretary Wallace, Secretary Work, Secretary Davis, Secretary Hoover, Ambassador George Harvey, Ambassador Henry B. Fletcher, Senator George Wharton Pepper, and Will H. Hays, former Postmaster-General. The recipients of the medals were chosen for this honor by the trustees of the Roosevelt Memorial Association because of their service to the American people in three different fields of activities intimately associated with the career of Theodore Roosevelt. Miss Schuyler received the medal for "the promotion of the welfare of women and children;" Professor Osborn for "the promotion of the study of natural history;" and General Wood for "the promotion of the national defense." Miss Schuyler, next day, Saturday, September 1st the fair will open, and all it will cost the student will be the price of admission to the fair itself, which is a very small sum in comparison with traveling expenses. Young men who will be 17 years of age before January 1, 1924, and who will not be more than 24 years of age on August 30, 1923, can attend the camp, visit the state university, the flour mills of Minneapolis, the President in presenting the medal, "I know of the contribution of General Wood to the national defense. I know of his spirit of devotion which has been an inspiration throughout America. I know of the noble service he has already done. And I have peculiar reason to know of the most distinguished and patriotic service which he is now performing. As in the other cases, I can understand how the spirit of Theodore Roosevelt would rejoice in this bestowal of honor to his intimates, whom he greatly trusted and very highly admired. Surely, it is a becoming offering on the part of the Roosevelt Memorial Association because it conveys in another form the thought of the mindfulness, the earnestness, the readiness of Colonel Roosevelt to be of service to his country. I wish you would convey to General Wood this medal, with an expression of my rejoicing that he has thus been honored, and with it, a word of very cordial congratulations."

In bestowing the medal on Dr. Osborn, the President remarked on the "very rare distinction" which it was "to have so pursued one's activity as to earn the devoted and trusted friendship of the late Theodore Roosevelt."

President Lewis Wood said the "Like all Americans," said the packing plants of South St. Paul, without costing them a cent from the time they leave until they return again to their homes. A real vacation with much valuable information for young men who can pass a physical examination and who can furnish a good character reference. Men attending camp incur no obligations for military service by doing so.

General Grant said "Let us have peace." It is quite sure that the United States will never drive any other country into war, and if we are sufficiently well prepared to make such a move unprofitable for them, we may expect that other countries will not force us into war. The help of young men and their parents to bring about the fulfillment of General Grant's wish is requested. Those who are interested in the Citizens' Military Training camps should get in touch with their County Chairman of the Military Training Camps association, care J. H. Ruess, Bismarck, N. D., or write Headquarters 28th Division, Kasota Bldg., Minneapolis.

BATTERY IS BIG FACTOR
Answer to "What Makes The Wheels Go Around" Given
"What makes the wheels go around," has been the question of many a small boy before attacking some mechanism which presented a complicated problem to his small brain.
The same question changed a little keeps an expert jury continually testing and probing. That question is "How can we keep the wheels going longer and at less expense?"
The jury is not made up of merely twelve good men and true, but, of hundreds of experienced automotive engineers looking out always to better the various products they are working on. Practically every day at least one of these experts find a way to save a few cents or a few dollars on some part of the automobile without sacrificing quality and durability.
The jury for years has agreed almost unanimously on one important part of the motor car, the part which has come to be known as the heart of the car, the storage battery.
Mr. S. W. Corwin, local battery dealer is authority for the statement that the engineers of 140 leading car manufacturers have specified and are using Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries as original equipment. "They use these batteries—and pay more for them—because they have tested them a long time and know from experience that these batteries and Willard service mean a degree of car-ownership satisfaction which cannot be obtained with any other make of battery," says Mr. S. W. Corwin.
Ninety three percent of these car manufacturers have always used Willards. Considering the fact that the first batteries for starting and lighting were supplied as original equipment to car-builders in 1912, this stands as a record practically without an equal in the industry.

Links Roosevelt with Hamilton
"I think I should have felt an especial satisfaction," said President Harding "in bestowing a mark of recognition upon a great granddaughter of Alexander Hamilton. How curiously and impressively the fact of her descent and this mark of recognition, connect up the outstanding founder in the making of the Republic with one who later became a sentinel on the ramparts, ever ready to defend its ideals and its liberties. There is nothing in life comparable to the inspiration of service, and I would like you to say to the recipient of this medal that it has been a very great pleasure not only to transmit it, but to echo some of the ideals of the great Roosevelt, and to pay to her the tribute of doing that which to my mind is the greatest thing in the world."

The medal for General Wood, who is at present in the Philippines, was received in his behalf by Colonel Charles L. Kilburn.

BATTERY IS BIG FACTOR
Answer to "What Makes The Wheels Go Around" Given
"What makes the wheels go around," has been the question of many a small boy before attacking some mechanism which presented a complicated problem to his small brain.
The same question changed a little keeps an expert jury continually testing and probing. That question is "How can we keep the wheels going longer and at less expense?"
The jury is not made up of merely twelve good men and true, but of hundreds of experienced automotive engineers looking out always to better the various products they are working on. Practically every day at least one of these experts find a way to save a few cents or a few dollars on some part of the automobile.
bible without sacrificing quality and durability.
The jury for years has agreed almost unanimously on one important part of the motor car, the part which has come to be known as the heart of the car, the storage battery.
Mr. S. W. Corwin, local battery dealer is authority for the statement that the engineers of 140 leading car manufacturers have specified and are using Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries as original equipment. "They use these batteries—and pay more for them—because they have tested them a long time and know from experience that these batteries and Willard service mean a degree of car-owner satisfaction which cannot be obtained with any other make of battery," says Mr. S. W. Corwin.
"Ninety three percent of these car manufacturers have always used Willards. Considering the fact that the first batteries for starting and lighting were supplied as original equipment to car-builders in 1912, this stands as a record practically without an equal in the industry."

Join in Marriage At Pretty Home Wedding in Carson

The S. C. Lane home at Carson was the scene of a beautiful wedding Thursday, June 28, at 2 o'clock when Miss Lila Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Lane, was united in marriage to Walter Ellis of Bismarck. Rev. D. K. Ford read the marriage service in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bridegroom descended the stairs and slowly proceeded to the improvised altar in the living room while Mendelsohn's Wedding March was being played by Miss Rose Anderson, a friend of the bride. Miss Rose Pathmann, intimate friend of the bride, was bride maid and Waldo Lane, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a charming white tulle gown trimmed with silk lace and pearls. The train was a soft white tulle and the headpiece of white silk moline, trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley and orchids. She carried a beautiful arm bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor was dressed in a simple frock of white cotton crepe.

Floral decorations about the Lane home were artistically carried out in pink and white.

The bride was a member of the Carson school faculty for several years, resigning in 1922 to accept a position as teacher in the city schools of Spokane, Wash. She returned to her home recently after having completed a successful year in teaching. Mrs. Ellis has always taken a leading part in the social life at Carson.

The bridegroom has been engaged as an architect in the city since his return from the World War. He spent three and a half years in camp and in Europe and has resided in Bismarck for seven years.

After this ceremony an elaborate wedding dinner was served. Miss Mildred Lonic attended the table.

THE ELTINGE

One of the many delightfully humorous and human interest touches in "Alice Adams," starring Florence Vidar at the Eltinge theater today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday, is on the occasion of the dinner to which the Adams have invited Alice's rich young beau. Desiring to impress him, Mrs. Adams buys brussels sprouts, having been told by the grocer that they are very fashionable.

Alice's life was a good deal like that, too. She tried to keep up the appearance of being fashionable until she learned that it was much finer to be frankly herself.

NORTH FARGO GUARDS MAIN

Constables with Shotguns Prevent City of Fargo From Acting

Fargo, N. D., July 2.—Constables of North Fargo, armed with shot-guns, prevented workmen from excavating the North Broadway water main at a point near 15th street, Fargo, late this afternoon. Four workmen placed on the job for the purpose of breaking the connection between the Broadway main and the newly laid North Fargo village main and who began work early this afternoon had been on the job less than 15 minutes when the four village constables appeared on the scene.

C. A. McFarnsworth, in charge of the crew of diggers was forced by the constables to call the men off the work and all of them were placed under arrest by the village constables. The trouble is the outgrowth of difficulty between the village of North Fargo and the city of Fargo over water supplies. Several days ago it was reported that the village of North Fargo had tapped the mains of the city of Fargo and used the water for several days before it was discovered.

Games Have Great Educational Value For Children

"Games have a positive educational influence that no one can appreciate," declared Mrs. J. H. Kling in speaking of the value of play to children.

"Children can be completely transformed in their way by the playing of games," said Mrs. Kling. The value of play for girls from ten to sixteen, particularly from the ages of twelve to sixteen, can not be over emphasized, she declared, "for it is in those ages that girls are likely to incline to mope instead of taking part in healthy exercises."

"Mothers and fathers should take an active interest in seeing that their girls come out to the playground and join in the sport," asserted Mrs. Kling.

In discussing the subject she made the following statements:

"The player comes to see more quickly that the ball is coming toward him—that he is in danger of being tagged, that it is his turn. He hears the step behind him, or his name or number called, he feels a touch on his shoulder, or in innumerable other ways is aroused quick and direct recognition of and response to things that go on around him."

"The clumsy, awkward child becomes agile and expert; the child who tumbles down today will not tumble down next week. He runs more fleetly, dodges with more agility, plays more expertly in every way, shows thereby a neuro-muscular development."

"The social development through games is full as important and pronounced."

"Many children, whether because of lonely conditions at home or through some personal peculiarity, do not possess the power of readily and pleasantly cooperating with others; those can find help only in the intelligent application of some of the principles of play already enumerated. Many of their elders lack the same faculty. And as a consequence they are placed at a great disadvantage in business, in society in fact in all relations of life."

"The bold, selfish child learns that he may not monopolize opportunities, the unappreciated child learns self-respect and the respect of others through some particular skill that makes him a desired partner or a respected opponent. He learns to take defeat without discouragement and to win without undue elation."

"Most important of all, however, in the training that comes through games, is the development of will. The volitional aspect of the will and its power of endurance are plainly seen to grow in power of initiative; in courage to give 'dare' and to take risks, in determination to capture an opponent, to make a goal or to win the game. But probably the most valuable training of all is that of inhibition—that power for restraint and self-control which is the highest aspect of the will and the latest to develop."

"To be able in the emotional excitement of a tense game or a close contest to observe rules and regulations; to choose under such circumstances between fair or unfair means and to act on the choice; to have more than a mere knowledge of right and wrong. It is to have the trained power and habit of acting on such knowledge, a power and habit that means immeasurably for character."

"It is for the need of such trained and balanced power that contests in the business world reach the point of winning at any cost, by fair means or foul. It is for the need of such trained and balanced power of will that our highways of finance are strewn with the wrecks of able men."

"If the love of fair play, a sense of true moral values, and above all, the power and habit of will to act on these, can be developed in our boys and girls, it will mean immeasurably for the uplift of the community."

Hill, Charles E. Knoblauch, Frank Knox, Lewis Maverick, Joseph H. McClintock, John McIlhenny, Fred Muller, Guy Murchie, Colton Reed, Joseph O. Wells, George B. Wilcox, Robert D. Wrenn.

The monument will take the form of an over life-size bust of Colonel Roosevelt as a Rough Rider, set on a granite pedestal. The bust is now being modelled by James Earle Fraser, the famous sculptor, whose statue of Alexander Hamilton on the steps of the Treasury Department in Washington was recently unveiled by President Harding. A site for the monument has already been selected by a committee of distinguished citizens of Santiago at a prominent point on the boulevard leading from the city to San Juan Hill.

"The monument in Santiago," said Colonel Greenway, who made the announcement, "will commemorate the day which Colonel Roosevelt himself regarded as the greatest day of his life. 'I would rather have led the charge up San Juan Hill,' he said shortly after the battle, 'than to have served three terms in the United States Senate.'"

Funds for the monument are now being raised and the committee is inviting contributions. Checks should be made payable to George I. McMurtry, Treasurer, Rough Riders Memorial Association, One Madison Avenue, New York.

It is planned to unveil the monument with appropriate ceremonies early next January.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 2.—Forty persons were injured, several probably fatally, when a two-car on the Niagara Falls high speed line of the International Railway Company ran into an open switch at the northern city limits of Tonawanda this morning. Both cars went into the ditch, the first turning over.

LIVE STOCK TRADE WEAK AND DRAGGY

South St. Paul, Minn., Minn., Close of market Saturday.—Dullness prevailed in all branches of the live stock trade this week. Outside of a few strictly choice fat cattle, all classes sold at unevenly weak to 50c or more lower prices. A somewhat lighter supply and dull markets for the dressed product were the chief factors causing the decline in cattle prices.

Strictly choice to prime fat beefs are still quotable at $10.50, but best in this week's trade went at $10.25, yearling steers and heifers averaging 868 pounds and fat beefs averaging 1,219 pounds making this price. Bulk of grain fed fat steers and yearlings sold from $8.50 up grass-fat offerings going at $6 up to around $8.

Best dryed heifers sold at the close at from $8 to $9 or better, a like kind of cows, $6.50 to $7.50. Grass-fat heifers sold from $5 to $7, grass-fat cows, $3.25 to $5.50 for the most part.

A few old shelly canners sold at $1.50 or less, most canners, $1.75 to $2.25, cutters on up to $3. Bologna bulls sold at $3.25 to 4.25.

Ven calves sold on an up-and-down market, with closing prices about like a week ago. Steers sold today from $5.50 to $9.50, seconds, $4 to $6. Average cost of the latter somewhat under $5.

Strictly choice feeder steers are quotable up to $7.50, but best this week went at $6.75. Receipts were largely common and medium grade offerings selling at $4.50 to $6.50. Commonest light weight stock steers and stock heifers were almost unsalable at the close, showing declines of fully 50 cent or more for the week.

Hog receipts totaled about 64,000 this week compared with 59,000 a week ago and 53,000 a year ago. The market has been on the down grade most of this week reaching a new low level for the year to date. Bulk of good to choice hogs of all weights closed mostly at $5.50; packing cows mostly at $5 to $5.50.

Good and choice lambs closed at $14.50 to $14.75, seconds mostly $8. Bulk fat ewes, $3.25 to $5.

MAY POSTPONE BOND SALE AND BORROW MONEY

The State Industrial Commission, which is to hold a meeting this afternoon to consider the matter of state bond sales, may postpone the sale for a considerable period, and borrow money to meet the needs of the commission in the meantime, it was learned today. The condition of the bond market has in bids for state bonds of the farm loan series at a premium on 5 per cent bonds, but at a premium held by state officials to be less than the bonds should command. Arrangements have been made to borrow money through the bank of North Dakota for the financing of the immediate operations of the farm loan department and the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks, it is known. No bids were submitted last week for the milling and elevator bonds offered for sale.

EDISON TALKS

Some farm-hand will bump into the great discovery in radio, predicts Thomas A. Edison. He continues: "Everywhere the amateurs are raving over radio. Some one of them will wonder what would happen if he should try this or that, and presto! he has solved the question of the age. Just as a farm-hand from Geneva, N. Y., walked into the General Electric Co. president at Syracuse and showed him how to hook a locomotive up to a high-powered motor, something that has been baffling a corps of expert engineers day and night."

Invention is more chance and accident, the result of plain primeval curiosity, than of creative thinking. So is most individual success, most general progress.

The "stuff" is all there in nature, waiting for an inquisitive Paul Pry to notice it. If you want to invent the perfect airplane, study the perfect flier—the dragon-fly.

Specialists, even the best of them, get in a rut. They are so close to the mountain that they see only a small part of it. A light-hearted stranger approaches from a distance and, having had a general view, points out the path to climb to the top.

"When I get in a rut, I place the object of my experiments away in a pigeonhole and do not touch it again for two or three years," says Edison.

You have noticed that, when you have a very knotty problem in hand, which you are unable to solve, the solution comes to you ventions to easily after you "sleep on it"—shove the problem aside for a few days, your tired mind and relax your concentration by a long fore sleep and rest.

That way, you "get" the problem. If you stick too closely, the problem "gets" you.

Never fear your job. If you are apprehensive that the task is beyond your handling, you are inviting it to master you. In the long run, the quickest way out of the mess when your desk is cluttered with work may be to lock the desk and go away for the rest of the day—just to convince yourself that the job hasn't taken charge of you instead of you taking charge of the job. It restores your sense of power, of ability. Dangerous psychology for a chronic procrastinator.

Edison believes that, "as soon as college men are graduated, their brain folds simply reject all the knowledge they have picked up. They fall down on simple questions of dividing so many apples among so many children, things they learn in primary school."

That's quite natural. Most of the knowledge we acquire in school, we absorb for the purpose of getting through school rather than for later use. It soon leaves.

So much for today's visit with Edison. If he hadn't gone in for inventing, he would have made a great philosopher, in which direction he's done a pretty good job as it is.

YOUR SUCCESS

Nature has taught every man to be a salesman when it comes to making love, comments George Cromwell Blower, New York teacher of applied psychology.

"Nature teaches the boy who would sell himself to his sweetheart as her husband, that everything about him talks and that he must make it talk for and not against him.

"For that reason, he brushes his hair, washes his ears, shines his shoes, whisks his clothes and puts on his best manners and most pleasing smile."

Courtship is the original form of salesmanship.

In primitive life, the young man brings to his intended bride the choicest birds, fish and other game—to convince her that he will be a "good provider." And he brings her the rare colored stone for jewelry, or the rare bird plumage, to convince her that he can supply luxuries. He is selling himself to her.

In civilized life, you find the young man performing the same way—displaying, to his sweetheart, his bankbook and business prospects and the box of candy or flowers.

The more you study simple psychology the more it will occur to you that all life is a matter of salesmanship.

We "go out of our way" to please and hold our friends. That's salesmanship.

We cultivate attractive manners and common-sense demeanor, and patiently build up a reputation for honesty and reliability. All salesmanship.

Instinctively we realize that we are here in this material life on a short trip, with certain qualifications of advantage to others and certain handicaps that hold us back. We concentrate to overcome the handicaps and develop the qualifications. That's salesmanship—the super applied-science.

Two thoughts will occur to you as you ponder this discussion of salesmanship as a vital part of every human life:

First: It would be an excellent idea for every boy and girl to receive, some time or other in their education, a practical course in the fundamentals of the psychology of salesmanship. We can have much productive ability, but without the ability to sell (market) it we are destined to be candlelights under a bushel.

Second: Salesmanship applies to nations as it applies to individuals. Amiable foreign relations are a matter of salesmanship, and it might be a good idea to let the sales engineers try their hand at so-called diplomacy—usually the science of selling gold bricks and then trying to keep the buyers satisfied.

The first lesson in genuine human salesmanship is Ralph Waldo Emerson's essay on "Compensation." Bookstores have it in cheap copies. The libraries have it free. It's probably the sanest thing written in at least five centuries.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

Back to the little train went Nancy and Nick. Nancy was carrying Ruby Joan and Nick, if you please, was carrying the lost puppy that had run off with Ruby Joan, or to tell you the right way of it, that had taken her to Lost Town to look for her poor lost shoe-button eyes.

"It was very queer!" said the lost dolly, when they were all seated in the little Choo-Choo Express train and Mister Toots had started the engine. "We were just playing as nice as pie in the yard when—"

"Who was playing?" asked Nancy. "Why, Puppy and I were playing," said Ruby Joan, "when all at once his teeth went into my head and I heard a rip and then I couldn't see any more. My eyes were gone."

"I'm awfully sorry," said the puppy. "I didn't mean to hurt her. It was only in fun."

"Well, it's funny we couldn't find your eyes in Lost Town," said Nick. "We've looked everywhere and asked everybody but they weren't there."

Just then Mister Punch, the conductor-man, came along to punch the tickets.

"Tick-ets, please," he called out. "No, no charge for babies or dummies—they ride free. I'm very glad you found your lost child, Madam!"

"So am I, thank you," said Nancy happily, "but I'll have to take her to a doctor's. She has such a hole in her poor head." And she stuck in her finger just to show him how badly poor Ruby Joan was injured.

"Oh, goodness!" she gasped. "I've got something! It's her two eyes! They weren't lost at all! They were just inside her head. Why, I can fix them in a minute with a needle and thread!"

Which she did at once.

TELEGRAM FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON.

Sending important inclosure to you by mail. I'm off for New York to bring Leslie home. Expect Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will come with us. Don't need you now. Come whenever you darn please.

Letter from Sydney Carton to John Alden Prescott.

I confess, old chap, I read poor little Paula's letter, which you sent me without any comment, with tears in my eyes.

I never thought she had so much soul, but I guess that is where most of us make a mistake in regard to the women whom we kiss and leave. We are so apt to simply divide the feminine sex into two classes, good or bad, and I have almost come to the conclusion that all women are good and bad. They are just human after all, exactly as we are, Jack.

It seems to me that we should get over the old theory that there is a part of us which no good woman can satisfy. Nowadays men are not beasts, although I expect when you read poor little Paula's letter you felt yourself one. Anyway, we have outgrown the cave man and why should the rest of the tradition, that it takes both an angel and a devil to make a man perfectly happy, still linger?

I'm not so sure, Jack, that if you had married Paula Perter, she would not have made you happier than Leslie. Leslie is too good for you and besides she is essentially a daughter of luxury. She can't help that, poor girl. It is the way she

People's Forum

Beulah, N. D.
July 2, 1923.

Editor Bismarck Tribune:

Dear Sir: Many of the people of the Beulah vicinity feel they have a grievance because of the malignity of our county sheriff which appears in the Fargo Forum of this date. By a staff correspondent of Bismarck.

What prompts such biased reports we can not imagine, unless perchance it is a putrid resentment in the minds of some political opponents—or the work of some highly polished prevaricator having an interest in disbanding the union at this place.

Any man who knows our sheriff personally knows that he is going to follow the line of duty—regarding friends and foes alike. That no "warning" from Governor Nestos or any other authority is necessary.

We realize that the anti-unionist wants a sheriff to put on spiked shoes and begin walking over the miners at the first indication of any leaning toward organization on their part, they cannot bear the idea of a sheriff showing any humane traits, of his trying to lead people in paths of peaceableness by kindly and timely advice, oh, no, pacific admonition is out of place, he must go with blood in his eye and a determination to stir up trouble if he finds none.

Regarding the statement that he "took considerable time to answer" a phone message from Nestos, this is a rotten implication that Conrath is guilty of laches, I do not know to just what time or what message this refers, but I do know that I was with him myself at one time when he received word from the central operator that Bismarck wanted him and that he responded as promptly as any one could.

If Captain Baird is reported correctly when it is stated that he said "the difficulty could have been averted if the sheriff had taken a firm stand at once, but he did not," then I suggest that the captain do a little investigating. As to "imported agitators" this bunk is rehearsed so often it seems the public would long at it. The only paid agitators having been here so far as we know were fully accredited organizers, these, of course, are vicious and devastating sort of ner-humans in the eyes of the operators. A man here told me that he had a talk with one of these organizers once and found him educated, well informed in current events, a man of high ideals, and was beginning to admire him until he noticed a bulge in his hip pocket vicinity, a bulge resembling a gun, which a little later, during the heat of an argument, was drawn out and proved to be a hymn-book. This may be a jest but it is good.

The insidious wording of parts of the reports are fully equalled in falsity by the foul exaggeration of other parts, for instance this report says "122 men from the Zap district appeared at Beulah." There was one man here from Zap and I can give his name to any interested party. This will indicate about the amount of truth which one may expect to find in many of these reports.

The company's main contention appears to be that there is no strike this seems to be claimed because the men walked out before an organization was formed. The district and the national officials of the miners' union have organized this strike, the local conditions show there is a strike, what more is necessary to get the written consent of the operators to call it a strike?

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Jenny Pendean engages Mark Brendon, famous criminal investigator, to solve the mysterious disappearance of her husband, Michael, from his home on Dartmoor. Pendean is last seen in the company of Jenny's uncle, Robert Redmayne, when the two visit Michael's new bungalow near Foggintor Quarry.

Blood is found on the floor of the cottage and witnesses testify to having seen Robert ride away on his motor bicycle with a heavy sack behind the saddle.

Jenny goes to live with her uncle, Bendigo Redmayne and Brendon visits her there. Mark is introduced to Giuseppe Doria, who works for Bendigo. Brendon falls in love with Jenny and her uncle Bendigo tells him that he fears that Doria is trying to win her affections.

Now go on with the story

"I appreciate the confidence and can return a confidence," answered Brendon after a moment's reflection. "I do admire Mrs. Pendean. She is, of course, amazingly beautiful, and she has a gracious and charming nature. With such distinction of character you may rest assured that nothing will happen to a while. Your niece will be faithful to her late husband's memory for many a long month, if not forever."

"I believe that," answered Bendigo. "We can mark time, I don't doubt, till the turn of the year or maybe longer. But there it is: they are thrown together every day of their lives and though Jenny would hide it very carefully from me, and probably from herself also as far as she could, I guess he's going to win out."

A few minutes later a gong sounded from beneath and the two men descended to their meal. It was Giuseppe Doria who did the talking while they ate a substantial dinner. He chattered on and after dinner lighted another of his Tuscan cigars, drank a liquor of some special brandy. Mr. Redmayne produced in honor of Brendon, and then left them. They drank tea at five o'clock and an hour later the detective went on his way. A general invitation had been extended to him and the old sheriff expressly declared that it would give him pleasure to receive Mark as a guest at any time. It was a suggestion that tempted Brendon not a little.

The moon had risen as he pursued his lonely road and it shone clear through a scattering scud of threatened soon to overwhelm the silver light. Clouds flew fast and above Brendon's head, telegraph wires hummed the song of a gathering storm. The man's thoughts proceeded as irregularly as the fitful and shouting wind.

Still deep in thought Brendon tramped on; and then, where the road fell between a high bank to the windward side and a pine wood on the other, he experienced one of the greatest surprises that life had yet brought him.

At a gate, which hung parallel with the road and opened into the depth of a copse behind, there stood Robert Redmayne.

He appeared to recognize Mark, or at any rate regard him as an enemy, for instantly he turned, plunged into the woods behind him, and disappeared.

CHAPTER VI

Robert Redmayne Is Heard

This sudden apparition bewildered Brendon, for it argued much beyond itself. Surely it indicated treachery and falsehood among those he had just left at "Crow's Nest," for it was a coincidence that most inconceivable that on this day of his chance visit, the wanted man should suddenly reappear in the neighborhood of his brother's house. Yet collusion seemed impossible, for Mark had given no notice to Bendigo Redmayne of his coming.

He swiftly determined that not Jenny or her Uncle Bendigo, or anybody on earth, should prevent him from securing Robert Redmayne on the following day if it came within his power to do so. Indeed he felt little doubt that this would happen. For that night there was no hurry. He slept well after an unusual amount of exercise and emotion; and he rose late. He was dressing at half past eight when there came a chambermaid to the door.

"There's a gentleman must see you this instant, moment, please, sir," she said. "He's by the name of Mr. Doria and he comes from Captain Redmayne out over at 'Crow's Nest.'"

Not sorry that his day's work might now be simplified, Mark bade the girl summon his visitor, and in two minutes Giuseppe Doria appeared.

"So Robert Redmayne, the murderer of Michael Pendean, has turned up?" asked Brendon, finishing his shaving; and Doria showed astonishment.

"Corpo di Bacco! How did you know that?" he asked.

"I saw him on my home," replied Mark. "I had already seen him, before the tragedy on Dartmoor, I remembered him. What is more, I'm not sure that he didn't remember me."

"We are in fear," continued Doria. "He has not been yet to his brother, but he is near."

"How can you tell that he is near, if he has not yet been to his brother?"

"Thus we know it. I go every morning early to Strete Farm on the hills above us for milk and butter. I go this morning and they have an ugly story. Last night a man entered Strete Farm and took food and drink. The farmer hears him and comes upon him sitting eating in the kitchen—a big man with a red head and a red mustache and a red waistcoat. The man, when he sees Mr. Brook—that is the farmer—he bolts through the back kitchen by which he has come. Mr. Brook knows nothing of the man and he tells me of his adventure, and then I go home to tell pardon mio—my master."

"When I describe this man, Mr. Redmayne and Madonna nearly have a fit between them. They recognize him—he is the assassin! They think instantly of you and bid me take my bicycle and ride here at my best speed to catch you, if it may be done before you go."

By nine o'clock the Italian had started homeward, and as soon as he was gone, Brendon went to the police station, borrowed a revolver and a pair of handcuffs, hinted at his business, and ordered a police car to be ready as quickly as possible. A constable drove him and before setting out he told the local chief of police, one Inspector Damarelli, to await a message over the telephone in the course of the morning. He enjoined strictest secrecy for the present.

Mark, who had studied Mr. Redmayne's large government survey map of the district, suggested an immediate search over the most likely regions in the neighborhood.

He inclined to the belief that the hunted man might sooner trust the wood than the coast.

"If Mrs. Pendean doesn't mind the weather and there is no shadow of danger to the launch, then I advise that your niece goes down the coast and has a look into the caves as you propose," he said. "No doubt Doria can be trusted to see sharply after her. Meantime we will quarry the wood. If we could get into touch with the man, it might be possible to secure him without making any noise."

Doria prepared for the coming voyage of discovery and, within half an hour, the motor boat danced out from beneath "Crow's Nest." After they had gone, Bendigo, in a sailor's pea-jacket and cap, lighted a pipe, took a big black-thorn stick, and set off for his hunt. The police car still stood on the road and, both entering it, they soon reached the gate beside which Robert Redmayne had appeared on the previous night. There they left the motor and entered Black Woods together.

Bendigo still talked of his niece and continued to do so. It was a subject on which the other proved very willing to listen.

"She's at the parting of the ways now," declared Jenny's uncle. "I can see her mind working. I grant she loved her husband dearly enough and he made a pretty deep mark on her character, for she's different from what she was as a girl."

Mark asked a question.

"When you say that her husband altered his wife's character, in what way did he do so?"

"Well—he taught her sense I reckon. You'd never think now, would you, that she was a red Redmayne—one of us—short of temper, peevish, fiery? But she was, as a youngster. Her father had the Redmayne qualities more developed than any of us and he handed 'em down. She was a wilful thing, plucky and fond of mischief. That was the girl I remembered when Jenny came back to me a widow. And so I see that Michael Pendean, what ever else he was, evidently had the trick character to learn her a bit of sense and patience."

They tramped the wood and fell in with a gamekeeper, who greeted the trespassers none too amiably. But on learning their errand and receiving a description of the fugitive, he bade them go where they pleased and himself promised to keep a sharp watch.

Their hunt produced neither sign nor clue of the man they sought, and after three hours of steady tramping, they returned in the motor car to "Crow's Nest."

Nest of direct importance awaited the Jenny had not only seen Robert Redmayne but had reached him; and she returned very distressed and somewhat hysterical, while Doria, having done great things in the matter, was prepared to brag about them.

Join in Marriage At Pretty Home Wedding in Carson

The S. C. Lane home at Carson was the scene of a beautiful wedding Thursday, June 28, at 2 o'clock when Miss Ida Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Lane, was united in marriage to Walter Ellis of Bismarck. Rev. D. K. Ford read the marriage service in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bridal procession descended the stairs and slowly proceeded to the improvised altar in the living room while Mendelsohn's Wedding March was being played by Miss Rose Anderson, a friend of the bride. Miss Rose Pathmann, intimate friend of the bride, was bride-maid and Walter Lane, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a charming white canton crepe gown trimmed with silk lace and pearls. The train was a soft white crepe and the headpiece of white silk moline, trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley and orchids. She carried a beautiful arm bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor was dressed in a simple frock of white canton crepe.

Floral decorations about the Lane home were artistically carried out in pink and white.

The bride was a member of the Carson school faculty for several years, resigning in 1922 to accept a position as teacher in the city schools of Spokane, Wash. She returned to her home recently after having completed a successful year in teaching. Mrs. Ellis has always taken a leading part in the social life at Carson.

The bridegroom has been engaged as an architect in the city since his return from the World War. He spent three and a half years in Europe and has resided in Bismarck for seven years.

After the ceremony an elaborate wedding dinner was served. Miss Mildred Lorie attended the table. Following the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis left for an extended trip to the Yellowstone National Park and along the Western coast. AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL

In Jean Richepin's famous novel "Mirka", the child of the bear, a film version of which, entitled "Gypsy Passion", will be shown at the Capitol Theatre tonight, an important part is played by a bear called Puzelli, who acts as the foster-mother to Mirka.

This bear was secured after a long search and great difficulty. "I never bothered much about the bear," said Louis Mercanton, the producer, "and never thought much about the hardship of getting one. It was only at the last moment that I found out that bears were difficult to obtain."

"It appeared that most of them had been consumed during the war, bear steak being something of a delicacy."

"After a long search I met a little animal dealer in Belgrade, who, when he had heard my requirements, clapped his hands, saying he had the very thing I wanted, but that I couldn't see the animal for a day or two. With this uncertain consolation I left the town. Some time after I remembered, with a sudden shock, that I was still short of a bear. I wired the dealer for news, and he wired back to this effect: 'Sorry you cannot see bear for several months, but I have a magnificent serpent, three and a half yards long.'"

The bear finally obtained by Mr. Mercanton is one of unusual ability. It is of the old dancing type and in one of the big scenes puts up one of the most realistic fights ever screened. He attacks the villain, a role assumed by Charles Vanel. The bear takes several bites at Vanel's arm and the clever actor did not escape without several scratches.

THE ELTINGE.

One of the many delightfully humorous and human interest touches in "Alice Adams," starring Florence Vidor at the Eltinge theater today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday, is on the occasion of the dinner to which the Adams have invited Alice's rich young beau. to dress in his dinner clothes, though the night is hot, and it is while Alice is arranging his tie that he sniffs the air and exclaims, "Cabbage!"

Brussels sprouts may be fashionable, but they smell the same and their odor permeates the entire house in the same manner as the plebian cabbage!

Alice's life was a good deal like that, too. She tried to keep up the appearance of being fashionable until she learned that it was much finer to be frankly herself.

Round "Lefty" Ryan Pared and Take Sunday's Game by 11 to 2 Score

BOARDMAN HURLS WELL

Jamestown, N. D., July 2.—Boardman had everything his way against Jamestown Sunday afternoon, in the first of the Bismarck series here, while the Capital City crowd murdered "Lefty" Ryan who, torn to shreds by 11 hits, was sent into left garden in the 8th, while Wingfield finished the game. Big Charley was in good form and, though the Jamestown thought they had his goat on the run when Wingfield, first up in the second, drove out a home run, he never left the earth and pitched a great game. Hidden got around on his own, followed by Meier's hit for the second Jamestown score in the third.

Though caught off first by Boardman's flip to that base in the third inning, Chenoweth out-Indians Chief Fly and the whole Stanley crowd, to the amusement of the bleachers, and ducked through the mob, trying to tag him at second, for a safe sprint at back to first.

Bismarck got their runs by seemingly hitting the ball whenever and wherever they wished. Their hits were mostly sizzlers across second base and vicinity though several also went over the heads of the infield.

JAMESTOWN IS FINAL VICTOR

Takes One to Nothing Victory in Pitcher's Battle Here Saturday

"Buck" Enger of Jamestown and Joe Day of the Bismarck club hooked up in a pitcher's battle here Saturday evening in the third of the three-game series transferred to Bismarck, and Jamestown won, 1 to 0.

Bismarck played the game under protest after the third inning when Nord went from second to third on a passed ball, and then stole home. Umpire Luke Safro declared Nord out on a ground rule that only one base was to be followed on an overthrow when the ball struck anything, the ball Enger threw going to the grandstand. Manager Shanley of the Bismarck club claimed Nord was entitled to the base, Clark made an effort to head him off but the throw to Enger was too late.

Bismarck lost another chance at scoring in the seventh when Felix Fly left third base before Hidden caught Nord's fly. He crossed the

DEMPSEY SAYS HE'S READY TO MEET GIBBONS

Never was in Better Shape, Champion Pugilist Declares

Great Falls, Mont., July 2.—Payment of the final $100,000 installment of Jack Dempsey's $300,000 guarantee is scheduled to be made to Jack Kearns, manager of the champion today, by Major Lane, new trustee of the championship fight at Shelby, George Canton, Stanton, Great Falls banker and former Judge Roy D. Ayres, who are appointed with Lane in the management of the bout, said that the money would be paid today, in accordance with the terms of the contract. Dempsey planned to do only light boxing today, base punching and shadow boxing. The champion finished his sparring program yesterday when he boxed three rounds each with Jack Burke of Pittsburgh and Billy Wells of England. Dempsey declared he never has been in better shape. He gave a remarkable display of accurate hitting and speed.

Gibbons' Friends Believe Dempsey Will Be Outboxed

St. Paul, July 2.—When Jack Dempsey answers the bell in the prize ring at Shelby, Mont., July 4, to defend his heavyweight title, he will meet a style of opposition somewhat different from that he has faced since he took the crown from Jess Willard. In Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, the champion will find a boxer of consummate skill, a man with a "mean punch," not afraid to mix in a toe-to-toe exchange, and a ring veteran who has never been knocked out of his feet. Gibbons' fans recognize the power of the champion the danger in his terrific rushes. But they look to Gibbons' boxing ability to go a long way toward offsetting Dempsey's rushing tactics. These same boxing fans, who have been fighting the Dempsey-Gibbons battle in clubs and other places of congregation ever since the word came that the fight was "on," are not, as a whole, boasting of what Gibbons will do. It would be an exaggeration to say that in any considerable quarter of the challenger's home town there is confidence that he will defeat Dempsey. His own brother, Mike Gibbons, once famed as "The Phantom" in middleweight circles does not feel that confidence. But there is always "the chance," and in Gibbons' hands the prospect brightens for many. And if there is not confidence, there is hope, and that alone will attract hundreds from here to the fight. Victory for Gibbons, however, would be assured in his home town.

All of which does not detract from the ability of the challenger, for the homefolk hold the view that no one is better qualified to test the merit of the champion, not even excepting Luis Firpo, the South American, who recently has loomed large on the fighting skyline. Gibbons is 29, one year older than Dempsey, "official" records to the contrary notwithstanding. His height is 6 feet, 3 1/2 inches, within a fraction of an inch of Dempsey and in weight he will enter the ring around 175 pounds while Dempsey probably will weigh in at 190 pounds. Dempsey has an advantage of 2 1/2 inches in reach, as Gibbons' measurement in this respect is 71 1/2 inches. This is a recognized advantage, but Gibbons' friends hope this is one of the things superior boxing ability may overcome.

The complete measurements of the two men, based on the latest authoritative figures and recognized as the best fighting condition of the two, are as follows: Dempsey 28 yrs. old.... Age.... 29 yrs. old 6 ft. 1 in.... Height.... 6 ft. 3 1/2 in 190 pounds.... Weight.... 178 pounds 74 in.... Reach.... 71 1/2 in 46 in.... Chest Normal.... 40 in 46 in.... Chest Expanded.... 44 in 33 in.... Waist.... 34 in 16 1/2 in.... Neck.... 17 in

REFEREE MAY GIVE A FINAL BOUT DECISION

New Rule to be Adopted by Montana Boxing Commission

Shelby, Montana, July 2.—The referee's decision may be considered final in the world's champion bout between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons July 4 under a new set of rules to be formulated today. The commission appointed several months ago by the district court in accordance with the state law is composed of Mayor Jim Johnson, treasurer of the bout, and two others. Montana rules heretofore have provided for the presence of two judges at the ringside and the referee voted only in case there was a tie. Owing to the importance of the bout this rule is to be changed, placing in the hands of the referee power to decide the winner in case it should continue 15 rounds.

Gibbons worked out before a record crowd at his open air ring yesterday. He will take only light exercise today and tomorrow. His weight now is 178 pounds, Eddie Kane, his manager, announced. Gibbons worked furiously against four sparring partners in eight brief rounds yesterday. He reached them all with his left which jabbed in and out with lightning-like rapidity. Gibbons' judgment of distance was at his best. Repeatedly he allowed blows to slip past him by a fraction of an inch, leaving himself in a position for a sharp smash in return which jarred his partners.

TOM'S SCOUTS WATCH JACK'S EVERY MOVE
By NEA Service
Great Falls, Mont., July 2.—One great difference between the systems of the two rivals in the coming scrap at Shelby is that Tommy Gibbons keeps posted on every move that Jack Dempsey makes in the ring at his training camp here. He has scouts on the job reporting every knockdown and every bit of information that could give him an inkling on the champion's trial and fight system. Dempsey, on the other hand, has sent no scouts over to Shelby. True, there are friends who drop into camp and give him their ideas about Gibbons after seeing the challenger in action. But Dempsey sends no scouts over to Shelby. He was at the ringside in New York that day when Gibbons lost the decision to Harry Greb and from that gets his ideas as to Tommy's ring methods.

YANKEES IN 4TH STRAIGHT

Beat Philadelphia Athletics By a Score of 4 to 0

Chicago, July 2.—Closing a record week in which they knew but one defeat the New York Yankees today are leading the American League by nine games. Their shutout of the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 4 to 0, was the Yankees fourth consecutive victory. They opened a series with Washington today. The triumph of the Chicago Americans over Cleveland, 6 to 2, also was a fourth straight victory for that team. St. Louis, by blanking Detroit 8 to 0, displaced it as leader in the second division. The Giants holding their lead in the Nationals, were stopped yesterday by Brooklyn 2 to 1. Fournier's home run placed the game in the victory column for the Robins. The St. Louis Nationals triumphed over Chicago, 8 to 7, while Cincinnati stopped the fast traveling Pittsburgh team 3 to 0.

How Business Depression Tests Good-Will

Many a manufacturer during the past two years has had an opportunity to measure as never before the real worth of his advertising investment.

He has seen his trade-marked line keep up in sales and his unadvertised goods shrink to a small fraction of their former volume. Innumerable instances could be cited.

Dealers can tell a similar story. The number of makes carried of each item have shrunk to a very few—the best known and most frequently called for. Dealers have changed their point of view; they no longer stock lightly with many brands, but substantially with a few.

Quick turnover is their only salvation in a depression and their real source of profit in a prosperous period.

DODGE BROS. BREAK RECORD

Retail Deliveries of Cars in 1923 Soaring High

Since January 1st, Dodge Brothers dealers have consistently broken all previous records for delivery of cars to customers. Since April 1st, deliveries to customers have averaged more than 5000 cars per week. This is without taking into account sales in foreign countries. Materially increased production in 1923 has made this performance possible.

For the first quarter in 1923 retail deliveries to customers were in excess of any quarter in the history of the business—even including the peak periods of 1919-1920. Following this, deliveries for April exceeded any previous month of the first quarter and delivery figures for each week in April exceeded the totals of the preceding week—each week creating a new high record. May maintained the pace established in April. June should be better than May.

BOY WALKING TO ROUNDUP IS HIT BY AUTO

Arthur Stokes, 19 Years Old, in Hospital Here, Badly Injured

Arthur Stokes, 19, of Cathay, N. D., was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Thistlewood near the west approach of the North Dakota Liberty Memorial bridge about 12:30 o'clock last night. Today he is in a hospital here, seriously injured. Stokes' head was bruised and cut. No bones were broken, it is believed, but X-ray pictures were made to aid in determining the extent of injuries.

The young man was walking to Mandan, having come this far for the roundup. The impact of the car threw him about 10 feet. He struck one of the road markers, which line the road every 50 feet leading to the approach.

Stokes said he felt safe in walking close to the road, even though many cars were passing. The accident was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gobel and daughter, Mrs. Wm. Robinson of Staples, Minn. Mr. Gobel being the first person to reach him. Stokes was picked up unconscious but regained consciousness on his way to the hospital. Stokes was a student at the Valley City Normal.

"After the remarkable benefits I have derived from Tanlac and the Tanlac Vegetable Pills I don't hesitate to give it the highest praise," declared Mrs. John Cullen, 77 Hoag Ave., N. Minneapolis, Minn. "I took the pills with such fine results I was sure Tanlac would increase my appetite and strength, and this it did better and quicker than I ever expected. My stomach was so badly out of order that sourness, gas and a feeling of suffocation caused me much misery after eating. I had severe headaches, my nerves were unstrung, I could not sleep and was so weak and run-down I wondered how long I would go without a complete collapse."

"But Tanlac set my digestion right. I now eat anything, am steadily gaining weight, and I feel so strong that five hours housework is no more strain than a half hour used to do. The highest praise I can give Tanlac and the Tanlac Pills is none too good."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

How do you buy oil?

Your judgment in buying oil will give your motor short life or long life.

You insist upon distilled water when you want the purest water for your battery. Because distillation removes the impurities. That's why you should insist upon
